ANNOUNCING CLASS PROPHECY OF '49ER'S

Ah! The Ouija Board is working so get ready for all the answers I have asked about the Class of '49. It has been a long time since I have heard anything about what they have been doing. It is the year 1959. First of all I find that-------

Mildred Meyer is now just another simple housewife. Mrs. Starr gives Happy Marriage Hints over the radio weekly on XN.

Adelbert Stewart has become a strong man in the Ringling Brothers Circus. It seems the Charles Atlas course worked wonders for him.

Sarah Flury, due to her difficulty in typing, has invented typewriters that type your thoughts without making mistakes. This leaves her more time to flirt with the Nation's most eligible bachelors.

Jack Barley and Frank Bronson, who said way back in '49 that they would be bums have fulfilled this prophecy and are seen riding freight trains across the country. Frank got lots of experience by draping himself over chairs in Mrs. Sleigh's typing class.

Pearl Kaiser is now the first lady barker in the Central State Shows. She introduces Tiny the wrestler. Her husband, Don Gould, cares for the kids.

Jimmy Holloway has traveled from a Top Notcher to become still greater than Vaughn Monroe. Jimmy says he is going to teach is Quintuplets (all boys) to sing too.

Loretta Gassert has been named the Model Secretary of 1959. She is also efficient when it comes to flirting with bosses.

Robert Burton has completed a college course, "Short Cuts to Farming." He is applying them on his 160 acre farm near to Washington.

Ramona Hedding has become one of the famous Powers Models which keeps her husband supplied with lots of "Moo-lah."

Robert Boston has become a millionaire farmer and is seen tendingghis thorough-bred cows in his high silk hat and tails.

Betty Ampe always said she wanted to be a housewife, but her plans have been disrupted because being married to a big time gambler gives her no time for home life..

CLASS PROPHECY

Delbert Finlayson has tired of farming and is now another Arthur Murray. He has perfected a new step called the "Bumba" and is busy teaching fat women how to dance it gracefully.

Eldred Baird has finally found and captured the world's tallest man and has settled down on a ranch in Arizona.

Fred LeMaster is still going to school trying to pass exams so he can become a doctor. Doris Neu is faithfully waiting for him after all these years.

Pauline Weber has finally over come her shyness and as the wife of the governor, is now the number one lady of Kansas.

Don Randall has finally become a singer but instead of soloing he teaches girl soloist's the "Randall Method"

Barbara Tegethoff has married her school day dream man and settled down as secretary to Dick who is now the owner of Fashion Cleaners.

Barbara Groody after many courses in Physical Education has been side tracked from an original intention of being a teacher and has become a bouncer at the Green Latern owned an operated by James McLeod.

Elverine Stewart is the wife of a poor, but, honest farmer. Due to lack of income on his part, Elverine drives one of Simon's trucks to help bring home the bacon.

Jenne Walker has taken a trip to Hawaii and will not come away bedause she likesthe country and because she just loves to hula.

CLASS HISTORY

The senior class of 1949 has been decidedly different from the usual graduating class throughout their twelve years of schooling. Eight of the little dears who boldly invaded the first grade room in the year 1937 are still together in 1949 to remember the devilment they caused through their school years. These eight include: Sara Flury, Betty Ampe, Jack Barley, Eldred Baird, Fred LeMaster, Barbara Groody, Loretta Gassert, and Jimmy Holloway. Barbara, Jimmy and Loretta left us for a time but missed their old class so much they decided to return. Miss Lois Meyer was our first grade teacher.

As we reached the second grade we graduated from crayons to pencils. Miss Janie Hood began the task of teaching us to tell time.

We acquired our individual scrawls in the third grade as Miss Elizabeth Mueller taught us the fundamentals of writing. Bob Williams joined us this year. It was here we had our first experience with ink (much to our mothers' dismay when we came home all covered with it).

As we moved upstairs to the fourth grade we began to show our talent along the line of dancing when we learned to dance the Minuet. The girls wore their first long dresses and the boys wore powdered wigs. Miss Esther Holloway was our teacher.

Shy Jenne Walker of Belleville and Don Randall of Haddam joined us in the fifth grade. Blonde Don was the apple of every girl's eye but he was a bashful little boy then. Each day held a new thrill as we discovered who our teacher for the day would be. Mrs. Beth Waterbury greeted us the first day but soon was made principal of the grade school and taught the eighth grade which left us as orphans. Other teachers that year were Mrs. Wayne Healy, Mrs. Guy Fletcher, Mrs. L. W. Rosenkranz, and Mrs. Ed Peterson. Mrs. Peterson accompanied us on our picnic.

The little Missouri blonde, Pearl Kaiser, joined us in the sixth grade. We also acquired Jim McLeod from Texas. We had our first taste of changing classes and did we feel big! We went blindly into English class and after all Miss Rowena Ginn's instruction we could not see the light, that is in our English lessons.

Miss Beatrice Dickson, was one of our favorite teachers, and helped us make it through to the final lap of our grade school education. In this grade the girls were honored by being allowed to join the girls pep club. Cheer-leaders from our grade were Barbara Groody and Jenne Walker. Our team took first place in the county tournament at Linn.

Our last year in grade school was our most exciting one due to the many activities. One of the most important of them was the athletic banquet put on by the pep club. Another high light was the May Fete when Jenne Walker was crowned Queen of

May. We proved our patriotism by buying defense stamps in this grade. We closed the year's activities with our annual class picnic with our teacher, Mrs. Beth Waterbury, accompanying us. We received our diplomas on May 23, 1943.

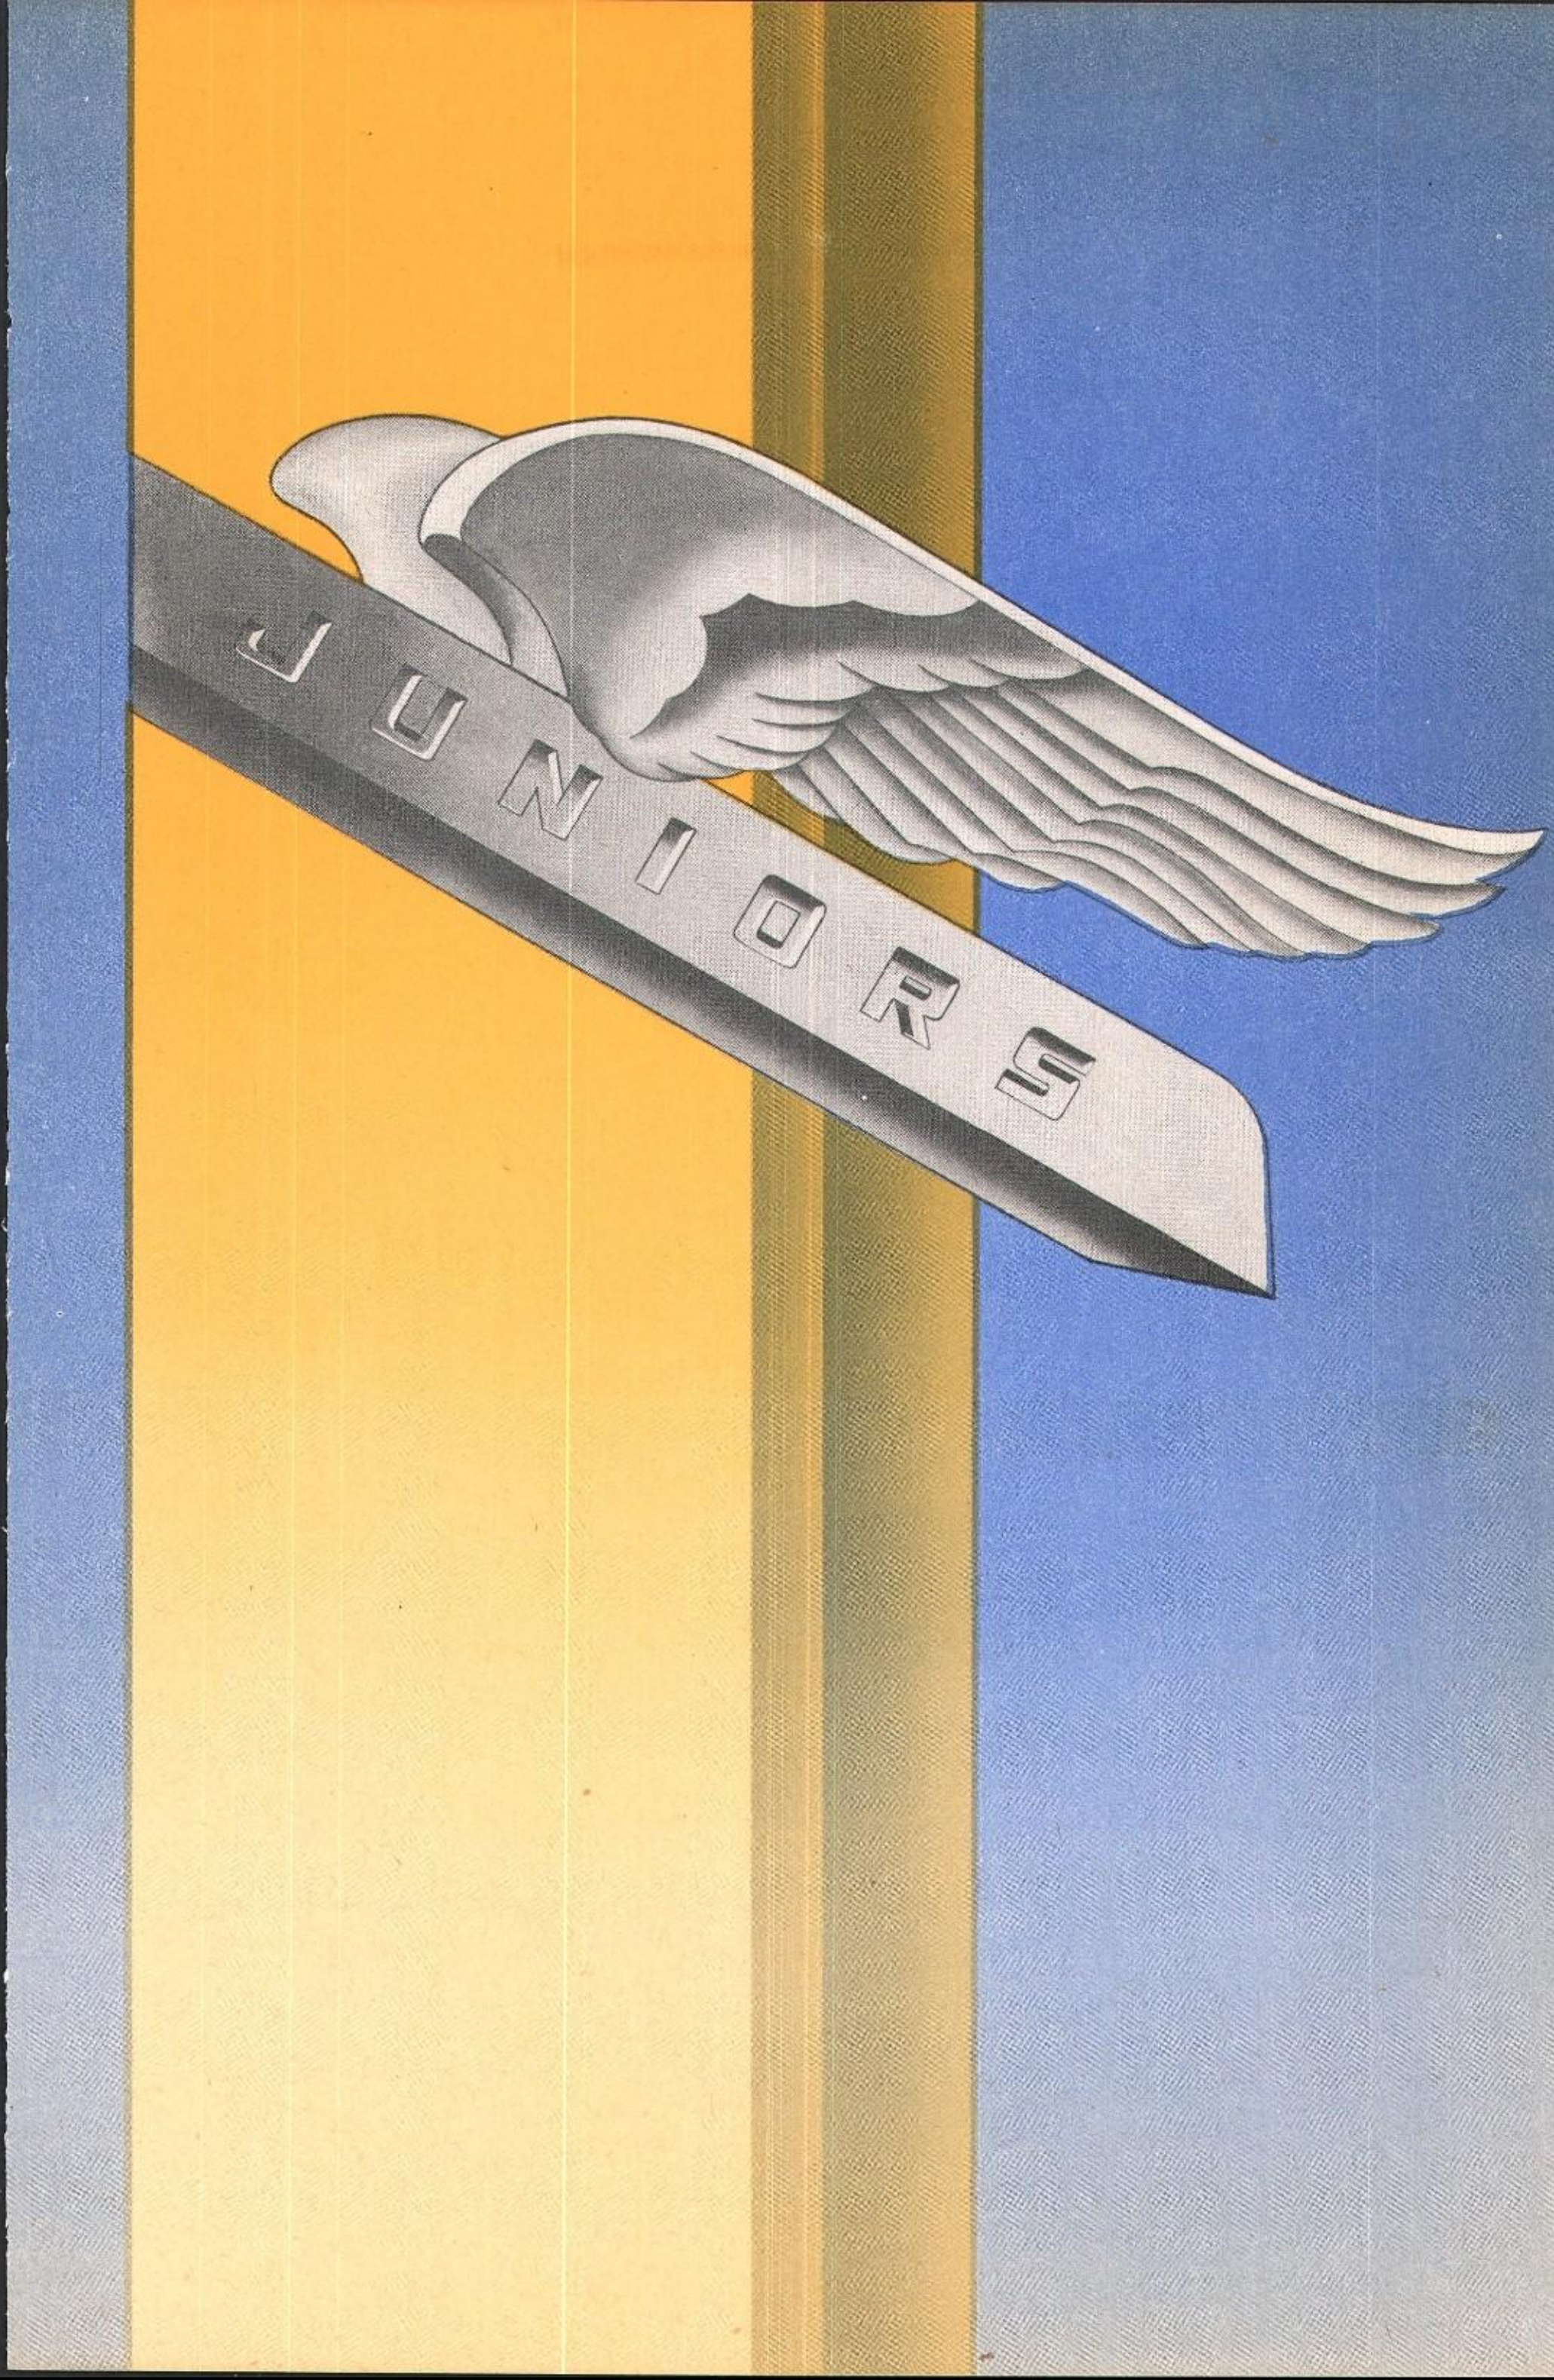
We began our freshman year with 29 students, having added seven from various country schools. These were: Doris Neu, Elverine Stewart, Barbara Tegethoff, Robert Boston, Robert Burton, Delbert Finlayson, and Adelbert Stewart. We were properly initiated into high school by the upper classmen and became better acquainted with our fellow classmates. Class officers were: Jenne Walker, president; Fred LeMaster, vice-president; Frank Bronson, secretary; Don Randall, treasurer. Our student council representatives were Jimmy Holloway and Betty Ampe. Mrs. Beth Waterbury and I. E. Peterson were our sponsors. Jenne Walker was one of the cheer-leaders.

Feeling a little braver we began our sophomore year only to get into trouble every way we turned. This was typified by one particular class picnic when we attended the show and due to our boisterous behavior we were banned from further picnics or parties that year. Class officers that year were: Doris Neu, president; Jack Barley, vice-president; Barbara Tegethoff, secretary; Betty Ampe, treasurer. Student council representatives were: Fred LeMaster and Loretta Gassert; ~~servers~~ at the junior-senior banquet were: Doris Neu, Barbara Tegethoff, Elverine Stewart, Loretta Gassert, Jack Barley, Jim Holloway, Frank Bronson, Don Randall. Sponsors were: Mrs. Lola Sleigh and Donzel Gibbons. Jenne Walker was again cheer-leader.

Barbara Groody re-joined us in our junior year coming from St. Mary's Academy. During the first few weeks we picked our class rings but not without much debate. Our class, as usual was divided into two almost equal sides but as usual the majority won and most of the students were well pleased with the rings when they arrived shortly before Thanksgiving vacation. On October 21, 1947 we presented our junior class play, it was "FRESH AIR", after a week of intensive practice under the direction of Beth Waterbury and James Abel, class sponsors. The cast included: Jim McLeod, Mr. Cass; Frank Bronson, Mr. Polley; Joyce Sitler, Valerie; Fred LeMaster, Ralph Brooks; Jenne Walker, Elsie Slater; Bob Williams, Bruce Newton; Jack Barley, Jack Dodds; Doris Neu, Nana; Loretta Gassert, Mrs. Slater; Adelbert Stewart and Delbert Finlayson, First and Second Young Men; Barbara Groody, Daphne Gordon; Eldred Baird, Mrs. Gordon; Don Randall, Thomas R. Green; Barbara Tegethoff, Joan Walor; Betty Ampe, Beatrice Green; Jim Holloway, Harry Myers. The play went over with great success and helped finance the junior-senior banquet which we gave in honor of the seniors with May Day as our theme. The lower part of the city hall was decorated around a May pole. Upstairs, the scene of the prom, was decorated in pastel colors with butterflies overhead. A band from Fairbury furnished the music. Junior class officers were: Betty Ampe, president; Don Randall, vice-president; Jimmy Holloway, secretary; Fred LeMaster, treasurer. Student council representatives were: Elverine Stewart and Frank Bronson.

Last comes the unforgettable senior year when everything of importance happens. We started off with a bang by initiating the freshman in the customary manner. Class officers chosen at the first class meeting were: Fred LeMaster, president; Eldred Baird, vice-president; Barbara Togethoff, secretary; and Loretta Gassert, treasurer. Student council representatives were Doris Neu and Don Randall. Sponsors were Mrs. Beach and Mr. Darby. The first big event was the annual Christmas party held on December 23, 1948. The decorations were built around "A White Christmas". Doris Neu and Jimmy Holloway were chosen holiday king and queen. Santa visited us in his customary manner and left presents for all students and faculty in attendance. Soon after Christmas most senior classes begin thinking about sneak day and we are not an exceptional class in this regard. After some time we decided to charter a bus to Kansas City. We left about noon on April 1, 1949. We attended the Ice Capades and stayed overnight in the State Hotel. On Saturday, April 2, we toured the city and went through the Federal Reserve Bank. The afternoon was spent shopping. We returned Saturday night after a show. Soon after that, on April 22, 1949, we presented our senior class play "OFF THE TRACK". Mrs. Winona Beach directed the play and the cast included: Jim Holloway, Mr. John Morgan; Don Randall, Silas Dobbins; Betty Ampe, Flickie Nelson; Doris Neu, Betty Phillips; Eldred Baird, Joan Parker; Loretta Gassert, Mrs. Guarino; Elverine Stewart, Antonia Guarino; Fred LeMaster, Bill Lindsay; Franklin Bronson, Mr. Oscar Pozenby; Jack Barley, Willie Woodson; Barbara Groody, Mrs. Reginald Vanderventer; Barbara Togethoff, Evalina Bumpass; Jenne Walker as Miss Pidgie McDougal; Pauline Weber, young matron with two children; Delbert Finlayson, a tramp; Robert Boston, salesman; Adelbert Stewart, an elderly man; Robert Burton, high school boy; Martha Lobaugh and Jerry Holloway were the children. According to most reports this was one of the best plays ever given in Washington High School.

Another big event, the junior-senior banquet was given on May 7, 1949.with the class of '49 as honored guests. Reverend Leslie F. Toburen delivered the Baccalaureate address on May 26, because the next night, May 27 was Commencement. At that time every member of the class carried away the coveted diploma and some of the class walked off with special awards besides. Dr. Forrest C. ("Phog") Allen was the speaker of the evening and his subject was "It's a game easy to play but difficult to master". Our class night festivities were built around the theme "Days of Forty-Nine" and gave us our last fling at the dramatic.



JUNIORS

CLASS HISTORY

The class of 1950 began their high school career with an enrollment of 48. Their freshman class officers were: Virginia Asche, president; Phil Hanni, vice-president; Victor Schroeder, secretary-treasurer. Student council representatives were Walter Hinkle and Dorothy Fletcher. Before the end of the year they lost seven of their class members.

Then came the sophomore year, the time when to all outward appearances you have lost your green look even though your teachers don't think so. Officers that year were: Lyle Sitler, president; Agnes Linenberger, vice-president; Phil Hanni, secretary-treasurer. Victor Schroeder and Joan Patric represented the class on the student council. A highlight of their sophomore year was a public speaking contest, held the night of the junior debate, at which Mary Jo Hein, Joan Patric Joan Krueger and Agnes Linenberger won high honors.

In their junior year the officers were: Dorothy Fletcher president; Phil Hanni, vice-president; Dick Bowen, secretary-treasurer. Virginia Asche and Bruce Bigelow were student council members. In the fall of '48 came the first of the many thrills you encounter during your junior year. They picked their class rings. Then came the class play, "The Absent-Minded Bridegroom," which was a big success with Miss Taylor and Mr. Oursler directing. In May the class put on a very successful banquet and prom for the class of '49 using the theme "The Forty-Niners." They are now looking forward to the time next year when they will be the guests at the banquet.

A Freshman Thinks

CLASS HISTORY

The largest class in the year of 1948-49 is the freshman with a total of 46. Thirteen of these have been together from the first grade in Washington Grade School.

During their last two years of grade school there were three highlights. During their 7th-8th years they presented a number of good plays which were presented before the public. Another highlight was the annual May Fete where Mary Ann Anderson was crowned as May Queen. The other event was the winning of the County Basketball Tournament.

The 46 freshman were initiated into W. H. S. and following the initiation a dance was given in their honor. The sponsors who presided over the first class meeting were Mr. Peterson and Mrs. Sleigh. The following were elected as class officers in this meeting:

President----------Duncan Dodds
Vice-President---------Gerald Toburen
Secretary----------Jimmy Stamm
Treasurer----------Willis Razor
Student Council----Marianne Beaumont
